

IRISH DIVIDE OVER OATH TO KING

IRISH SETTLEMENT HAS WIDE EFFECT ON WORLD AFFAIRS

NEW STATE ENTITLED TO MEMBERSHIP IN LEAGUE.
WILL BE SECURE
Guarantee Against External Aggression Holds; Foreign Policy Like Canada?

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

The settlement of the Irish question, which has been the subject of so much discussion in the past few years, is now being brought to a head. The new state of Ireland, which is to be created by the partition of the island, is to be a free state, with a guarantee against external aggression, and a foreign policy like that of Canada.

of the fact that Ireland now assumes the constitutional status of Canada, the members of the league are obliged to recognize Ireland's territorial integrity as well as that of any other member.

Third-Ireland will unquestionably find herself as aggressive about foreign policy as Canada and Australia and South Africa. The new state will be a free state, with a guarantee against external aggression, and a foreign policy like that of Canada.

Ever since that occasion of individuality. Indeed, the general elections in Canada which were held this week resulted in a victory for the opposition to Premier Meighen. Some of the opposition speakers discussed Canadian participation in matters of foreign policy that were of direct concern to her, and a controversy was waged in the press.

The Washington government was freely criticized for not issuing a direct invitation to Canada; to which the United States officials have been (Continued on page 4)

Two Edgerton Men Are Given Prison Terms

Edgerton—Stanley and Joseph Popowski, Edgerton, brothers of John Popowski, now serving a sentence of six months in the Rock County Jail for violation of the prohibition laws, were given stiff sentences in state's prison at Waupun when they pleaded guilty in an Eau Claire court to a series of thefts.

Stanley, formerly motorcycle policeman both at Edgerton and Stoughton, was given four years, and his brother, Joseph, one year. The men were charged with robbing ticket offices at Fairchild, Wisconsin Rapids and River Falls. Burglar tools, recovered from the motorcycle stolen from a man in Ohio, when they were arrested at Monomonic.

Joseph Popowski is married and before his arrest was living with his wife, at Fond du Lac. He told the court a baby was expected before Christmas.

Phone Merger Is Help to Advertisers

Consolidation of the telephone companies means extra dollars for the Classified Advertising users of the community. Hundreds of farmers had only one phone, now they have the service of both companies.

That means when Farmer Jones who lives east of Janesville has a Bell phone and advertises an article for sale or that he wishes to buy something, Farmer Smith who lives west of Janesville and has a Rock county phone can answer the call with no extra cost.

Why not take advantage of this extra service at once? There is no need of "putting off until tomorrow what you can do today." And don't forget that no matter which phone you have, call 77 and get in touch with the Classified department of the Gazette.

Submarine Crew in Narrow Escape

NEW YORK—Fifty-one members of the crew of the submarine S-45, who escaped through torpedo tubes after their craft had a nose dive off Bridgeport harbor Wednesday, are stuck to the bottom, told a remarkable story of rescue on their arrival Thursday at the New York navy yard.

According to a report made to the commandant, the lighted one end of the submarine unit it appeared above the surface and then set perched on this pinnacle for more than 10 hours until after darkness had fallen. Then by lighting matches, they attracted the attention of a passing tanker which picked them up and brought them here.

Several of the men, as well as Lieut. Francis Smith, were found to be suffering from the effects of chlorine gas created by salt water flooding storage batteries. After examination, however, only three were detained at the hospital.

The submarine left Bridgeport on a trip. About one mile off the entrance to the harbor, after making a nose dive, she failed to come up. Her commander reported that the vessel was stuck to the bottom. The covers had not been properly fastened, allowing water to seep in.

Salvaging operations already have been started. The submarine is being hoisted.

Corpse, Found in Lone Spot on Island, May Be That of Wisconsin Girl

Clinton, Ill.—Although his office is flooded with telegrams and letters offering theories concerning the identity of the woman whose corpse was found by hunters in a shallow grave in a lonely spot on Big Island in the Mississippi river, near Thomson, Ill., Friday night, Coroner J. E. Schriener of Carroll county Thursday believes he is in the hands of a mystery of the woman's identity and the cause of her death than before.

The most tangible clue to the possible identity of the woman is contained in a telegram from B. S. Christman, 206 Fifteenth street, Racine, Wis., in which Mr. Christman says the body may be that of his daughter, who disappeared three years ago.

DON'TS CITED IGNORED
The coroner flatly denied statements that "clues to the woman's identity which might have been found in the grave had been ignored by the coroner's party."

"There was nothing left," he said, "but a pile of bones. So far as the reports that the hands were tied are concerned, no hands were found in the grave and the bones of the hands and arms dropped off when the corpse was raised. While we did not completely examine the body, we were not completely satisfied."

STATE SCORES IN TRIAL OF BURCH

Surprise Witnesses Further Involve Madalynne in Kennedy Murder.
Los Angeles—Interest in the trial of Arthur C. Burch, charged with the murder of J. Edgar Kennedy, increased Thursday with publication of the testimony of Mrs. Mary A. Ballitt, Mrs. M. L. Wilson and E. W. Cummings, termed "surprise witnesses."

Their testimony, it was predicted by the prosecution, opened the way to possibly even more "surprising" evidence.

Ballitt declared that shortly before Kennedy was slain, she had met Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, identified with Burch, in a beauty parlor, and was told by her that "Betch" would soon pass out."

Mrs. Wilson, proprietor of the "beauty parlor," identified postcards she said Mrs. Obenchain had sent her. One of them bore a resemblance to Kennedy, and the phrase "this is his last chance."

Cummings, a realty operator, told of having seen in Beverly Glen, the night Kennedy was killed, a marked automobile with diamond lights. The state contends this was a car rented by Burch and that he lay in wait for Kennedy in it.

TELLS OF ALLEGED ARMY EXECUTIONS WITHOUT TRIALS

SENATOR WATSON APPEARS BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE
MAY CALL YANK "Half Not Told," Assertion of Former Service Man From Ohio.

WASHINGTON—Eleven members of the American expeditionary forces were hanged in France after conviction by court martial, Chairman Col. W. E. Bethel, assistant judge advocate general of the army, testified Thursday before the senate committee investigating charges by Senator Watson.

Senator Watson appeared before the committee immediately after his testimony, and requested that he be permitted to appear and testify in support of his charges.

"I made no indiscriminate charges in the senate against the army," he said. "I have been told about soldiers who were guilty of brutality toward soldiers."

Explaining the work of the committee, Senator Brandegee said it was a "most disgraceful duty" and that he had received many letters "resenting these charges" and that the purpose was to find if they were true.

The senator read a story from a Washington paper which quoted J. J. Forbes, Cleveland, O., a former service man, as saying the Watson charges were true and that he had not been told about the army's execution of soldiers by officers.

"Senator, do you believe any American soldier was executed when he was innocent?" Chairman Brandegee asked.

"Well, will you let us have it?" "You will," said Senator Watson, "but you have asked me to read this paper."

"Go ahead," then, the chairman broke in and the senator proceeded to read Forbes' statement that he had seen a man hanged.

"Do you," the chairman asked, "believe that the hands were tied and the bones of the hands and arms dropped off when the corpse was raised?"

The newspaper printed a picture of what was purported to be the body of a man hanged, and the senator said he saw the soldier put to death.

An affidavit sworn to by George H. Taylor, setting forth that he saw 12 soldiers hanged in France and that he did not know whether or not all were convicted by court martial, was presented. The soldier said he saw two negroes and a white sergeant hanged, the latter after conviction by a French court martial.

The sergeant, Taylor said, resided in Detroit, Mich., and asked that his mother be notified that he died of influenza. According to the charges, as the girl was 17 years old and received money from the soldiers.

Private Watson Killed, Claim.
Senator Watson presented an affidavit by Samuel Long, pastor of St. John's church, that a private soldier killed by a sergeant with a bayonet because he was a conscientious objector and refused to carry a gun.

Kenneth C. Brown, an affidavit, said he saw a private suspended by the wrists from a tree from 7:30 p. m. to 3 a. m., and then knocked down by a colonel because he refused to work on bread and butter.

HAZELWOOD QUILTS STATE COMMISSION

Madison—John A. Hazelwood, secretary of the Wisconsin State Commission, has resigned to re-engage in the practice of law. Mr. Hazelwood has associated himself with the Glenview Maxon Co., law firm, under the title of Maxon and Hazelwood, Milwaukee. He will take up active practice next year.

Mr. Hazelwood has been chairman of the state highway commission since its organization 10 years ago, and although leaving state service, intends to continue his connection with the commission.

He is a former member of the legislature and state senator from Jefferson county in the legislatures of 1907 and 1909.

City Tax Rate of $25.89 Fixed to Raise $768,000

Official announcement of the 1922 tax rate for Janesville as $25.89 per $1,000 of valuation as against $21.11 in 1921 and $21.60 in 1920 was made on Thursday by passage of 22d ordinance. In the official estimate published, Monday, it was predicted the 1922 rate would be $25.35 but the city's share of 10 county school tax was not figured in this tabulation.

A comparison of the 1922 taxes with those paid the past four years by a man owning a house and lot passed the effects of the increase:

1922	$129.45
1921	105.55
1920	108.00
1919	75.55
1918	75.55

• Increase in five years, 70 percent.
Total Levy $768,000
The 1922 levy for Janesville for 1922 is more than three-quarters of a million dollars, or $768,000.36. The total 1921 levy was $654,071.44, or an increase of $113,928.92 for 1922.

Of the total city levy, $606,542.98 will be used for operation of the city itself, the balance to be expended as follows: City's share of state tax, $113,928.92; city's share of county tax, $34,772.43; and of the county school tax, $15,515.24.

With an assessed valuation of $29,653,896, this makes the city's rate, $25.89, city clerk Sartell said.

Division of Increase
The $114,000 increase may be accounted for in four ways. One, the city's share of state tax, a portion of the new levy is higher. The county levy on the city is approximately $17,600 higher; the state's $9,000; and the county school tax, $15,515.24.

In preparation for the tax collection period, City Clerk Sartell has already placed a "Keep Smiling" card over the window where the money is taken in by him.

"Please don't call up or visit this office to find out what your taxes are going to be," was the plea made Thursday by City Clerk Sartell. "If you have people calling up at all hours of the day, we will be unable to get anywhere if we attempted to answer them. I hope to have notices sent to each taxpayer within 10 days of the time they are due."

It also is understood that the city's total bill against him. The taxpayer when he pays his assessments in January should bring this bill with him—regardless of whether he is a taxpayer or not. If he is a taxpayer, he should be eliminated. It is not even necessary to call at this office this year to pay your taxes. Just wait until you get the bill and pay it.

Common Policy on Reparations Topic of Meet

London—Negotiations for establishment of a common policy by Great Britain and France in regard to Germany's war obligations opened here Thursday with the arrival from Paris of Louis Loucheur, minister of liberated regions, and several French financial experts.

M. Loucheur's visit was made at the request of the British government, which is represented as anxious to reach an accord before any open discussion of reparations questions is precipitated by the French officials desire to explain to the French minister the purpose of the negotiations recently opened here by Dr. Brüning.

The unofficial negotiations preceding Thursday's meeting involved guarantees on which Germany might be granted a financial respite following the payment of reparations. As a result of these conversations, it is believed control of the German customs will be one of the questions demanded in the French government before any such respite is granted.

HEADS VICTORIOUS PARTY IN TUESDAY'S CANADIAN ELECTION

DUBLIN—The Daily Eireann cabinet assembled Thursday to consider the treaty, signed in London by the Sinn Fein and British delegates, creating an Irish Free State.

Its action is fraught with significance, as it is expected to develop the real attitude of Eireann. The cabinet members are expected to be divided, as it is believed the agreement will be approved in principle at least. The public seems generally satisfied.

Republicans of the rank and file make no secret of their dislike of the oath involving fidelity to the British sovereign, and criticism among other features of the treaty is the appointment of a governor-general and the financial clauses. Women's republican organizations are especially antagonistic toward what they call a "surrender to England."

Watch Ulster Stand
All this need not be regarded necessarily as foreboding rejection of the agreement by the Daily. Nobody doubts that there will be strong republican opposition in the north when the time for action arrives, but moderate opinion predicts that they will prove only a troublesome minority.

Ulster's attitude on the plan is awaited with interest here. The Ulster cabinet is considering the treaty. Ulster is thought will not enter the parliament which risks the state's independence, but will wait to see if it gives promise of being satisfactory from her point of view.

Score Lost in Gale on Atlantic

St. John's, N. F.—At least 15 lives were lost and more than a score of fishing schooners, barges and tugboats destroyed and property damage approximating $250,000 was done by the storm that raged along the New England coast Monday and Tuesday. It was believed that the loss of a schooner might be in the hundreds when a check was completed.

Shipsmasters reported the storm was one of the worst that ever swept the coast. The winter supplies consigned to settlements north of here.

STRIKE THREATENS ISLAND SUGAR CROP

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico—A strike among the field laborers of St. Croix, one of the Virgin Islands, which has lasted for two months, is threatening the next sugar crop, according to J. L. Curry of that island.

The strike resulted from a decision of the sugar planters to reduce wages to 50 cents a day for day labor. On a piece basis, Mr. Curry said it was possible for laborers to earn from 75c to $1.25 daily, but they would lose their work.

"We have had two bad years for sugar," said Mr. Curry. "Unless we are able to get our planting done by the end of November there will be no crop for the coming year."

THREATS OF SUITS AGAINST MEMBERS OF THE N-P LEAGUE

FORMIDABLE DOCUMENT
PRESENTED TO OLD
MEMBERS
WILL FIGHT CASES
Attorneys of Janesville Agree to Defend Farmers Approached, Without Charge.

Threats of suits to be brought by the nonpartisan league against a number of farmers of Rock county, have disturbed the former members of that organization about here for the past week or more.

These threats have come in the form of a large document, looking much like a proclamation by the governor, and bearing a notarial seal in gold. It is evidently designed to scare the men who get one and in some cases has served that purpose.

Look Post Dated Checks. When the nonpartisan league canvassers from North Dakota led by the boss canvasser, Deven, came into Rock and Walworth counties early in 1920 and began to seek members for the "Townley" organization, they accepted post dated checks in case cases as payment of the $15 dues and initiation fee.

Some of the farmers afterward refused to pay the checks and others stopped payment at the bank. In the last few days the situation has become more acute with the receipt of the notices. Here is one sent to a farmer living not far from Janesville:

FINAL NOTICE BEFORE SUIT
State of Wisconsin, County of Dane.
P. H. McConnell
vs.

To the above named debtor. FIRST: You are hereby notified that unless you remit to our office in the City of Madison, county and state aforesaid, on or before the 15 day of Dec., A. D. 1921, at five o'clock in the afternoon of said day in payment of said claim, or make provision for adjustment thereof, suit will be forthwith brought for the total amount and interest, together with the cost and disbursements of this action.

SECOND: This claim is demanded on the ground that a negotiable check of $15 was signed by you that you have neglected and refused to pay, although you have been repeatedly requested to make such payment.

THIRD: A judgment rendered on this claim will cover the amount of claim, together with all cost. Attachment or garnishment may issue or judgment will be satisfied by levy on your possessions under execution in accordance with law.

Dated at Madison, Wisconsin, this 30 day of Nov. 1921.
(Official seal of Notary public.)

The above named P. H. McConnell personally appeared before me and swore that the above claim is just and true to his best information and belief. Subscribed and sworn to be:

fore me this 30 day of Nov., 1921.
(Signed) Cora M. Enders,
Notary Public, Dane County.
Sealed the Farmers

Of course the notice has in reality no effect other than to scare but with the "State of Wisconsin, County of Dane" in the beginning it sounds very formidable and intensely legal. When the farmer who received this notice presented it to a Janesville attorney and asked what he should do about it he was told to forget it and if action was taken defense would be given him without cost. At the same time he was told that several Janesville attorneys have agreed to defend any of the former members of the nonpartisan league whose post dated checks are called into question and attempt is made to collect them, and there will be no attorney's fee connected with it.

Want a Test Case. It is, therefore, with intense interest that the attorneys and the farmers are looking forward to the test of any of the cases. How many members there were or are in Rock county is thus known. At the height of the canvass for membership it was stated that 475 persons had been led to pay or agree to pay the $15 membership fee.

Lately no one has heard of the league in the county and from the number of those who have refused to honor the checks given to the canvasser it would appear that there are now but few if any real bona fide members about Rock or Walworth. It is hard to say because there never has been a time when a member in this section of the state wanted to advertise the fact that he had parted $15 to the Townley bunch.

FARMERS CLAMOR FOR STOCK "SHOTS"

Great Progress Made Throughout Wisconsin in Cleaning Up Herds.

Rock county is rapidly moving into the lead in Southern Wisconsin in the fight against cattle tuberculosis. The state is far in the lead in the eradication work and there are three Badger counties credited with being 100 percent clean and Rock is one of four more counties that will be practically cleaned up in a reasonable length of time.

Testing in Bayfield county has just been completed. More than 12,000 head of cattle came under the test and less than half of one percent of this large number of cattle were found to be infected with the disease.

Barren county was the first to take the county test and a total of 67,000 cattle there were "shot" with tuberculin. Lincoln county after a two years' campaign tested 16,000 cattle.

Wisconsin in Lead. Wisconsin now has about a big drive in progress against bovine tuberculosis in several of her counties that no state can successfully challenge her right to supremacy in the eradication of the disease.

Recents have been made this fall in the cow herds in which tuberculosis was discovered, in an effort to keep the county records clean.

Four more counties have testing work well under way and promise to soon be numbered among the "T. B. Free" areas. All of the cattle in Wisconsin county have been tested with the exception of two or three townships, now hard at it. In Douglas county 11,000 cattle have been tested. Oneida county has a tested list of 5,000 bovines. More than half of the cattle in Door county have been tested. Washington Island, a part of Door county, located off the tip of the peninsula, has long been famed as the Guernsey Island of Holsteins, and boasts of absolute freedom from tuberculosis among the hundreds of head of purebred "black-and-white" cattle.

Need More Funds. If the present demand for testing continues, the state appropriations will be exhausted by March first, declares O. H. Ellason, father of the state test work. The trouble now is to clamp down the lid on the work so that the indemnity money will last until more can be appropriated. Farmers and breeders need no urging to test their herds for tuberculosis, they are clamoring for aid.

An appropriation of a million dollars per year from the legislature is necessary to keep pace with the work of eradicating tuberculosis among Wisconsin cattle in the various counties where area testing is now in progress. One reason why the Badger state is able to keep ahead of her nearest competitor, Minnesota, is the lack of funds in the rival state. The Gophers have an appropriation now that is only about one-third that of the Badger state.

Besides the seven counties in Wisconsin where work has either been completed or is in full swing, inspectors are rounding up the work in four other counties—Oneida, Washburn, Douglas, and Ashland.

So thorough is the area testing that Wisconsin cattle are gaining an enviable reputation wherever the dairy cow is "queen of the land." Rigid health inspection makes the Badger state a paradise for the cattle buyer, trader or the world. T. B. testing has increased the prosperity of her farmers by bringing purchasers from nearly every state in the Union and many foreign countries to the tuberculosis

NEW "LANDED GENTRY" REVEALED IN BURKE AFTER SEVEN YEARS

London.—The advent of a new "landed gentry" in England since the war is made plain by "Burke's" current work of reference on that subject, which has reappeared after a break of seven years. Over 100 names of old landowners have disappeared since the last edition, and their places have been taken by double that number of newcomers. In the preface the editor remarks: "Much as the passing of old families from the land, or the diminution of their holdings, is to be regretted, the rise of a new class of landed gentry, possessed of means enabling them to develop estates which had become impoverished through the misfortunes of their previous owners, cannot be without benefit to the country."

NEW J. H. S. FILLS WARD SCHOOL NEED

Will Do Away With Congestion in Grades, Earle Tells Rotary.

Completion of the new $750,000 Janesville high school, expected next fall, will save the city thousands of dollars in making it unnecessary to build additional grade schools. This claim was made Wednesday by Jesse Earle, president of the school board, who spoke before the Rotary club at the Grand hotel.

Establishment of the junior and senior high school system, he stated, will take the seventh and eighth grades out of the grade schools and house them in the old building. This will relieve the congestion, which, he declared, is bad.

Use of the new building for classes is expected by next fall, or not later than the January, 1923, term, according to Mr. Earle.

High praise for the common council for its hearty cooperation in getting the building started was sounded by the president of the board. He also complimented Frank O. Holt, superintendent of schools, for his assistance in arranging the interior of the structure.

Place in West. "When finished, the school will be one of the finest and best equipped in the middle west," asserted Mr. Earle. It will have an auditorium 30 by 100 feet and a stage with a 40 foot opening. A pipe organ room will be provided in one corner, and it is his hope that the civic bodies of the city will get together and provide the organ. The capacity will be 1,600.

Detroit River Bridge to Have Longest Span

Detroit—Plans for the new international suspension bridge to connect Detroit and Windsor, just announced, show that it will have the longest single span in the world, measuring 1,802 feet, or 24 inches longer than the great cantilever at Quebec. Of double-deck construction the new link between Canada and the United States will accommodate street car, automobile and pedestrian traffic on the upper deck and passenger and freight train service on the lower deck. Barring unforeseen delays, actual construction work will start next spring, and within four years the upper deck should be ready for service. Without interfering with traffic on the highway deck, it is planned then to begin construction of the lower deck, which should be finished in two years.

The bridge and its approaches will have a total weight of 127,000 tons, with eight cables carrying the huge span. Six of these cables will be 21 inches in diameter and two will be 18 inches thick; together they will support a pull of 145,000,000 pounds.

Suspended from two towers, each rising 380 feet above the water, the span will have a width of 97 feet for the highway deck, with two trolley tracks, two sidewalks and two road ways, while the lower deck will have four railway tracks and a 20-foot space for public utilities equipment.

The Bonds of the Merry Monarch

England 1660-1685

CHARLES II of England, the Merry Monarch, didn't always cause merriment among his subjects.

In 1667, he became afraid of his own army, whose pay was long overdue. Not having enough money to pay them off and disband them, he called the bankers of London together and asked how much money each of them could loan.

The bankers lent £3,000,000 on assignments or bonds of the Royal Exchequer. Interest was fixed at 8%, since the bankers were paying their depositors 6%.

In 1672 Charles was again hard pressed for money. He issued a proclamation refusing to pay the principal on his indebtedness for one year. In addition to this he failed to pay even the interest.

Bankers and their clients were in a panic. Many of them went mad, died, suicided. Year after year passed without payment. Finally the principal was refunded and this still remains a part of the national debt of England.

NEWARK COW TEST ASS'N IS ASSURED

Widespread Interest Shown in Plan—Will Start Tests Jan. 1.

Organization of a cow testing association in Beloit and Newark townships will be effected by January 1 as the result of a Farm Bureau meeting held in Woodman's hall, Newark, Wednesday night. Chairman Henry Wieland reported signatures of 15 members for the new association and additional names were obtained following the address by W. J. Dougan, Beloit dairyman, who is active in organization of test associations.

Testing builds up the herd to the highest point of efficiency, gives you information that tells exactly whether the owner is getting a return for feeding his cows and for the labor and above all other important dairy points, it gives farmers accurate information on which cows should be kept and the worth of their calves, declared Mr. Dougan. Testing makes better dairymen for with records of the cattle, the owner is an intelligent herdsman with information that enables him to adjust the feed to his herd for greater production.

Describes His Methods.
"You establish the truth about your herd and know exactly what effect the use of a pure bred sire with producing qualities back of him has in obtaining greater profit and pleasure," declared Mr. Dougan. "Testing makes better dairymen for with records of the cattle, the owner is an intelligent herdsman with information that enables him to adjust the feed to his herd for greater production."

Newark farmers were urged to unite on a sane program of livestock improvement, to join in the county cooperative development.

Boost, Urges Culler.

"Make good on our opportunities," declared C. H. Culler, Farm Bureau secretary. "Stick and we'll get the results by making Rock a better place. We have some grand champion animals and they were bred and raised by ordinary farmers—not millionaires."

Specialize and get good stock for we can sell it," urged Henry Wieland. "The trouble is that Rock has not enough good stock to meet the demands. When more farmers have good stock, then buyers know that they can come here and be sure to find what they want and all that they want. When you have buyers coming to you instead of going to them, the farmer is away ahead of the game."

C. O. Osgard, Plymouth, made a short speech urging the full support of the Farm Bureau.

"If we want lower taxes, better roads and lower freight rates," we have got to remain in the Bureau, make it our organization and work. Following the meeting an oyster supper was served by the women attending. Regular Bureau meetings will be held in Newark in the future of the interest taken in the meeting Wednesday. A total of 28 are needed for the cow testing association.

Replying informally that the Washington government dealt only with the London government at the latter's request. The movement for a Canadian commissioner at Washington has been squelched—at least so official Washington by the British foreign office to permit the foreign policy of any of its dominions to be handled separately and by the argument that Canadian officials are going to frequently with the British ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes, who happens incidentally to have lived a long time in Canada and is familiar with the Canadian viewpoint.

On the other hand, General Smuts,

substituting government by law for government by individual," a policy to which he cannot agree. "However, the only purpose I have in this matter," he says, "is to see that the laws of the state of Wisconsin are enforced, and I therefore assume that the federal government will be very willing to permit the guard who did the shooting to be returned to Wisconsin for trial."

"If he is innocent, he will be discharged by a jury; if he is guilty, he should suffer the penalty provided for the act he committed," Governor Blaine declares.

TOM GALLERY'S EARS ARE A BIG FEAT

Look at his ears. Half of Janesville has attempted to determine whether Tommy Gallery really has lobesless ears as depicted in the film "The Son of Wallingford" now showing at the Apollo, for ears have a prominent part in the picture.

"Sure it is funny to see people look at my ears just to see if there are really lobesless and criminal," confessed Tom. "After seeing the film and then I am introduced to any person, they nearly always take a good slant at my ears."

But say, after being in the movies I am convinced army drilling is a cinch. There never was a hard drill sergeant who could think of so many different poses as do different directors. However, I have learned to walk 17 different ways through a door, and tried it four months in rehearsing, before the camera was even turned on. There is no uniform manual among the directors, for every one of them has a different idea and conception of the manner of acting. Squad drill was easy compared to learning to walk for the movies."

The Vitaphone star will finish in Janesville Thursday night.

the premier of South Africa, issued not long ago a statement declaring that Canada should have received a direct invitation from the United States and should have the right to send an ambassador to any foreign conference at which matters affecting her are discussed. Indeed, the South African statement was insinuated in drawing up the covenant of the league of nations which gave the six British dominions an equal voice in the assembly of the league, along with sovereign states, even though in the council of the league all the British States are regarded as a unit and their votes cast as one.

The linking up of Canada to Ireland in the new peace treaty is regarded here as likely to produce complications for both countries. No rights would be granted to Canada presumably which England might consider it inadvisable to grant to Ireland. On the other hand, the pressure within every British dominion for more of a voice in determining British external policy is growing, and the unity of the British empire in the councils of the world will depend largely upon the skill of British statesmen in working out a common foreign policy. Present meetings such as the Imperial conference of dominion premiers last June are seen as an inevitable result, with the prospect in the future of a Union of British states under a federal central government or less analogous to the Washington government's powers over the sovereign states of the American union.

Out of Politics.

Peace between Ireland and England means, however, many other things for the United States in the immediate future. It means a slow but sure withdrawal of the Irish question from American politics. It means a certain visit by Prime Minister Lloyd George to the United States, even if the issues of the armament conference do not in themselves demand his presence. The opportunity it might give him for a triumphal entry to this country following upon the heels of the Irish peace is too good an occasion to miss, as British spokesmen here have felt for some time that Lloyd George ought to visit the United States and Canada because of the value such a trip might have upon the cementing of good relations between English-speaking peoples.

GOVERNOR STILL AFTER MAIL GUARD

Writes Again to Hays Objecting to Policy on Trains:

Madison—The policy of maintaining armed Marine guards on mail trains, authorized to shoot to kill when "the necessities of the case require," is attacked by Gov. J. J. Blaine in a letter to Will H. Hays, postmaster general. At the same time the governor asks that M. M. Hanson, the guard who shot Otto Lambrecht of Kaukauna, Wis., be returned to Wisconsin for trial. The letter of Governor Blaine is in reply to that of the postmaster general, who answered the governor's request for a statement defending his action and expressing the intention of the government to continue the use of Marines to guard mail trains.

"If the rule set down by you is to obtain by the federal government, then there isn't any reason," Governor Blaine says, "why any department of the federal government cannot set up a military regime over the people of this country, the result of which will be that innocent men will be shot down like so many rats, according to the whim, caprice, inefficiency, inexperience, misjudgment, or even 'willfulness' of the guard."

The governor declares this to be

"substituting government by law for government by individual," a policy to which he cannot agree. "However, the only purpose I have in this matter," he says, "is to see that the laws of the state of Wisconsin are enforced, and I therefore assume that the federal government will be very willing to permit the guard who did the shooting to be returned to Wisconsin for trial."

ELKHORN SCHOOLS HEAR ADDRESSES

Plea for Modern Methods of Education Made by Speakers of Week.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Elkhorn.—In connection with the "Educational Week" movement, sponsored by the American Legion, and under the particular direction of Will Foster, speeches are being made in the local school. On Wednesday morning Rosecoe Luce, a member of the Legion, spoke at the high school on the relation of patriotism to education. Mr. Luce called attention to the fact that the modern pupil has advantages that the preceding generation, stating that the high school of today is in many ways on a par with even superior to the colleges of the past. He also expressed the wish to see the rural school supplemented by a more efficient type of institute where the subjects as it is, 10 or 12 subjects must be given through in the six hours of the day, allowing only a few minutes for each. The speakers also pointed out the opportunities afforded by a gymnasium. Mr. Luce concluded with a plea that the next generation of school officials do everything possible to give the child a more complete education. In its stead, place schools of real worth, where the country child will have the same chance as the town child.

Churches to Elect.
The Peck's Station Farmers' club will hold the December meeting at Woodford's hall, Dec. 12. Prof. Charles Jahn, of the Elkhorn public schools will be the speaker. Annual election of officers will occur.

Mail Christmas Checks.
Banks of the city are mailing out checks to members of their Christmas savings clubs. Four hundred persons of the community have been members. The total amount distributed is $23,765.91 and the checks range from $5 to over $1,000.

West Again Named.
W. A. West, has returned from a meeting of the National Dairy Council and announced that he has been elected as a member of that body for the coming year. The other member from this state is John A. Favre, president of the Cheddar Dairy Co., Milwaukee. Mr. West reports the expenditure of about $400,000 by the Council in advertising dairy products throughout the nation. The work along this line is mentioned of more milk by school children and is meeting with great success.

W. R. C. Inspected.
Mrs. Dora B. Welton, department president of the Elkhorn W. R. C., visited the Elkhorn W. R. C. Wednesday afternoon and inspected the local organization. Elkhorn is the last corps in the state to be visited and Mrs. Welton has returned to her home in Oshkosh, having completed her annual inspection of every corps in the state.

SNOW NOTHING IN YOUNG LIVES OF NEW CHICK FAMILY

Weather or seasons mean nothing to the hen belonging to Joe Chibson, route 1, Janesville, for a number of little chicks, which she had secretly hatched, were discovered a few days ago scratching for food in the barn. The hen had laid the eggs in the rear of the barn, where they were not discovered.

CORPSE MAY BE THAT OF WIS. GIRL

uncovered it sufficiently to assure ourselves that no possible means of identification or of determining the manner of death were being overlooked. The body has been re-buried on the spot.

Recall Spots of Violence.
In his telegram Mr. Christian said, his daughter's front teeth had been filled with gold. There was evidence that the teeth of the dead woman had been filled. Coroner Schriener, however, believes the body was buried sometime in 1919, subsequent to the "high water" of the river.

Local hunters recalled, Thursday, in connection with the finding of the body, that a year ago last October, one of the houseboats, towed by a launch, was seen near the island. That occurred, they said, following screams of a woman and shouts and sounds of fighting aboard one of the boats.

SAYS DESCRIPTION FITS THAT OF HER SISTER.
Racine.—When interviewed Thursday in connection with the discovery of an unidentified woman's body on Big Island, in the Lake Michigan, Mrs. Hanson, whose father, Dr. S. Christian, believes the body may be that of his missing daughter, Mrs. Hazel Gray, said that her sister had disappeared about three years ago and that the general description of the unidentified body given in the newspapers fitted the missing woman closely.

Mrs. Hanson said her sister was about 25 years old, had dark brown hair and brown eyes, was about five feet in height and weighed 150 pounds.

"Hazel was born in Mauston," said Mrs. Hanson, "and lived in Racine about five years. She was married to Fred Gray of New York, four years ago. We knew nothing of Mr. Gray's life after that. My sister was bound to marry him. They remained here for some months and then moved to Chicago, living at 124 Loomis street."

LETTERS ARE UNOPENED.
"She and her husband came here on a visit about three years ago, this coming Christmas. After they returned to Chicago, I received one letter. After that, my letters were returned unopened."

Mrs. Hanson said Gray owned a houseboat and made frequent trips and that at last report the boat had been driven to Hoboken, N. J. She added that the family had consulted clairvoyants in Chicago and one of them had told her that her sister had been "murdered on a houseboat and buried in a slough beside a long stream of water."

WY PROGRAM.
Sunday observance by the youth of Janesville will be the topic of discussion at the weekly meeting of the W. Y. club at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night.

Police Have to Be Shown Games to Stop Gambling

"If the people of Janesville want a closed town we can close it up at all right," declared the chief of police, Thursday, when asked about gambling. "I am here to do what the good citizens of Janesville want me to do—I am not catering to the mob."

As to any big gambling games in the city, the chief declared: "Just show us where they are and we'll be only too glad to raid them. I'm not dominated by any one."

"I honestly believe, though, that Janesville is the cleanest city in the state in every way and I hope we will keep it that way."

"I have been chief for the use of the city and I have been playing in some of the cigar stores, but there is no 'kitty' that I know of. The players merely pay a small fee for the use of the table and then play."

EUROPE EAGERLY WATCHING PARLEY

Papers Full of Washington Conference, Writes Milton Girl in Germany

Significance of the limitation of arms during the Washington conference which the developments are being watched in a letter of Miss Miriam West, Milton, Colorado, to her father, Allen B. West, agricultural teacher in the high school.

The letter was written at Berlin, New York, and was received by Miss West and Miss Dora Hurler started for Russia as the first women to enter under American relief administration auspices.

The papers today are full of the report of the first day of the Harding disarmament conference," writes Miss West. "Europe is certainly watching it with great interest."

Yesterday was election day, in spite of that fact, the whole front page was taken up with the report of Harding's and Hughes' addresses, with only small notice of the election results."

At the time the letter was written, Miss West had just returned from a vacation trip to Sweden, after being relieved of her duties in the American Red Cross, where she was in charge of a large district doing relief work under the auspices of the American Friends (Quakers) Service committee.

Miss West announced for departure the following Monday, Nov. 21 for Riga, Russia. The trip takes 48 hours. She expected to stay two days there and then go on to Moscow and later to the Baltic area.

According to Miss West, people are swarming into Germany from Sweden and Holland and other countries because of exchange rates. One can travel and live in Germany so cheaply when one has foreign money and it is causing a veritable influx of people from other countries.

People are known as "Valenta Scholins" or "exchange pigs." Miss West notes the arrival of an American dollar bill with pleasure, saying she can buy twice as much as when she was in the States.

Experience Is Needed.
Miss West said she was going to Russia only because the feeling was that those who have had experience in the German field or some other will be more useful than new ones from America.

"The work is not so easy as it is nearly time for me to come home and get to work. The travelling will not be so pleasant in Russia as in Germany, as we have to carry our own utensils to cook our food along the way. The baggage one takes is rather enormous, I imagine. Just

THE GAZETTE'S PLATFORM

Build a Community Center and Convention Hall for the city for athletic, conventions, musical concerts, elite meetings, and have it belong to the whole city. This is also a part of a program to provide music and entertainment for the people of the year around. Complete the city plan. Make more small parks and playgrounds and provide at least one place where the whole people may recreate at will. Camp for auto tourists coming to Janesville for the winter. Erect permanent memorial for the soldiers of the World War, suitable and adequate, and preserve it for the people of the year around. That and all other American wars in a public place. Keep the paving of Janesville streets and sidewalks complete and efficient. Make all main highways into city of concrete to connect with good pavements in Janesville. Keep the city looking bright and clean with paint and the streets free from filth. Make a new hotel or to increase the facilities of the present hotels as to take care of the traveling public and be able to handle conventions and large parties. Finish the high school at an early date and give the children proper educational facilities.

NO ALLIANCE FOR WAR

It is a relief to learn that the proposed alliance between the United States, Great Britain, Japan and France is not one of war but a merely friendly passing of notes stating the position of each nation. There can be no alliance which would mean that the United States would be under moral obligation to use its navy and army in aid of any other nation. That proposal even though made vaguely was killed, perhaps forever, as a part of the league of nations. Then there was the treaty with France guaranteeing the Rhine frontier which even Woodrow Wilson did not have the audacity to present to congress for approval.

This proposal for an alliance brings up again the position of the United States with reference to France. When Premier Briand made his impassioned speech in the conference at Washington, he was assured by Secretary Hughes of the sympathy of the United States, and later by Mr. Balfour of the same sympathetic attitude of Britain. That is well. We do sympathize with France. We are bound to the French nation by many ties. But we would be untrue to our own traditions, and to the republic, were we to enter into an agreement by which we solemnly promised to support France against an enemy which might declare war upon her. So if we cannot do that for France it would be unthinkable for America to enter into any other alliance which is pregnant with disturbing possibilities and tangles us in a skein of difficulties out of which it might take years to escape with honor.

Have you entered the Santa Claus class yet?

AN EVENT FOR THE COMMUNITY

There is a promise that the Messiah presentation in Janesville and Milton will be the most important musical event of the year. The chorus is of a high character of talent and the direction of Mr. Springer has won for him many admirers. There is need for more singers in the chorus and hope is expressed that the additional voices will be at the next rehearsal Sunday. These are community days when things presented by our own neighbors and friends have a great appeal, as witness what was done by the Kiwanis club. The great oratorio by Handel, perhaps never to be equaled in the majesty of its music, should be heard by every person since it is really a part of a liberal education.

HOPE TO AS WEATHER PROPHETS

From Fayette county, Pennsylvania, comes a weather prophet who bases none of his deductions on the astronomical calculations with which Mr. Mead is wont to determine to his satisfaction the future of meteorological phenomena. This Pennsylvania has been a keen observer of nature and notes that the hop toad is still out on his regular hopping trips while the earth worm, that perfect example of lowliness, is burrowing only a few inches below the earth for his winter residence. All of which goes to show that we are to have a mild winter and the coal bills will be lessened interestingly.

Still, as for us, we will remain true to our own weather prognosticator who has so carefully analyzed the effect of stars and planets and let the Pennsylvania Jeremiah enjoy his hoppers and his crawling things as he may.

A jarring reminder of the flight of time is the appearance of the new calendars.

Our duty in the Philippines, one gathers after reading the report of Gen. Leonard Wood, is to save the country from the errors of the Harrison government and the woeful mistakes in permitting it to last so long. Gen. Wood has a huge task in bringing the Filipino back to a realization of the needs of good government and education.

EDUCATION WEEK

By FREDERIC L. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—This week has been set aside by the President of the United States to impress upon the American people the fact that education in this country is in a most backward condition, and to interest citizens in community efforts to improve it.

It is easy to prove by statistics that in this country an education is relatively hard to get. Perhaps more important is the question of what the kind of education offered a child in the United States is worth after he gets it. That, however, is a debatable question, while the inadequacy of our school facilities is demonstrable in a way that no one can refute.

The congressional committee which recently made a study of education in the United States decided that this country ranks tenth among the nations in the value of the education it offers its citizens. The percentage of its citizens who never learn to write is also much higher than in the principal European countries. Estimates of illiterates are never very accurate, but the United States is generally credited with about 5,000,000 illiterates, over 10 per cent of these illiterates are native white citizens, 30 per cent are foreign-born whites, and 40 per cent are colored, while 2 per cent are Orientals.

Germany, England, France, Holland, and Switzerland all have smaller percentages of illiterates than the United States—or at least did have before the war. These countries all have much less wealth than America, and we are prone to think of them as less advanced in democracy than we are. Yet in education, which is the very foundation of every democratic institution, they all are ahead of us.

In eastern and southern Europe the percentages of illiterates in the populations of the various countries are much higher, ranging from 23 per cent in Austria to 89 percent in Roumania. It is from these wholly uneducated classes, and from their most uneducated classes, that the United States is now drawing most of its immigrant population.

The percentage of illiterates merely reflects the well known fact that there are not enough schools in the United States. In almost every large city the schools are reported over-crowded every year. We hear of double shifts and of enormous classes, which means little or no individual attention for each pupil. In most of our rural districts schools still keep open only a few months in the year, and many country children can reach school only by long hard walks.

Far more important is the question of what kind of an education the child gets when and if he succeeds in getting to school. The most striking fact in this connection is that our school teachers are among the most poorly paid of all workers. Plumbers and bricklayers are paid more by comparison. Even in the great cities, teachers are only fairly well paid. They never earn as much as a bright man or woman can make in business, nor as much as a gifted person can make in journalism or the arts.

When you come to the country districts and the small towns, school teachers are paid barely a living wage. Hence the education of the great mass of American children is entrusted for the most part to youngsters who want a way of earning pin money until a husband can be found.

To realize the seriousness of the condition of education in America, you must get an adequate conception of what education might be, and of how much depends upon it. For literally everything depends upon the hope of the future in its schools. Consider any of the major problems which confront the country with care and it will lead you to the schools.

Take the problem of the national health, for instance. The draft revealed the fact that about a third of the men of military age in this country were physically unfit. In many cases this physical unfitness was reported to be due to a lack of knowledge of the simple facts of hygiene. In a word many of these men are physically impaired by life because they had not been taught in schoolrooms those facts about the human body and its care which are necessary to the health and well-being of every civilized individual.

Most of the rest of the unfitness was due to under-nourishment. Many of these young men had not attained to proper physical development because as children they had never had enough to eat. This is at the bottom of an educational problem, too. For it is impossible to teach anything to a starved child. If the child comes to school in that condition it is the duty of the state to feed it. Indeed, it is necessary for the state to feed it if the education which the state proposes to give it is not to be a total waste. It may be right, under and individualistic regime, to let the adult starve if he is not efficient enough to feed himself, but to let the children starve is to let the future of the nation be in the hands of a few who are not efficient enough to feed themselves.

Take, again, the problem of crime. The United States produces more of it than any other civilized country in the world. Yet all crime is committed by persons of impaired morality who could easily have been identified as such in childhood. In other words, a large percentage of the crime which is committed in this country was made, at the school child, the greater part of crime work is prevented by isolating the criminal when young. Furthermore, in this way, many of these psychopaths could be cured and made into useful citizens.

In fact, the scientific study of the child in school is the thing above all needed. Not only the child below normal, but also the child above normal in gift and intelligence, suffer by the present system. Our schools teach a child to read and write, and beyond that they do little more than stuff him with a lot of fixed beliefs about the government and society, which inhibit thought rather than encourage it. Tagline whole tendency is not to develop individuality, but to hammer every one into the same shape, and this restrictive tendency is found not only in the graded schools, but in high schools and in most colleges.

When America shall have become truly civilized, the child will be educated before he is five, and the formative years of his life to an ignorant girl of 20 will pass that period under the supervision of men and women of the best brains and scientific training. His capacities will be studied with the utmost care. He will be examined as carefully and scientifically as an oil well or a radium deposit is examined. He will be recognized and treated as what he is—the most important of all natural resources. He will then be trained and developed so as to attain the highest possible usefulness to himself and to the state.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

"OUR LITTLE HOUSE."

I'd like to have them think of me
As one with whom they liked to be;
I'd like to make my home so fair
That they would all be happy there.
To have them think, when life is done,
That here they had their finest fun.

Within these walls with love aglow,
They live tomorrow's "Long Ago."
Nor is the time so far away
When now shall be some yesterday.
And they shall turn once more to see
The little home which used to be.

When comes that time I want them then,
To wish they could be here again,
I want their memories to be
A picture of a kindly me.
To have them say how very glad
Their youth had been made by dad.

I want them to recall this place
As one of charm and tender grace,
To love these walls of calm content,
When their olden days were spent.
And feel through each succeeding year
They lived their happiest moments here.

I feel I shall have failed unless
This house shall shelter happiness.
Save they shall find their truest mirth
Around their father's humble hearth.
And here life's joys attain,
I shall have lived my life in vain.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

RUBAIYAT OF THE HAS-BEENS
To one I love I write a doleful tune,
They said that we would see it very soon.
Oh, what can have come of that triumph?
That rocket that was going to the moon?

The voice of recollection vainly calls
For one and pages him in pits and walls.
Who said that the power of the pen
The Broadway who were the cereals?

Once justly we all cheered upon his way,
A warrior of old France, a day of glory.
What has become of Georges Carpentier?
One went about as quiet as a mouse—

And on an all-conversation party the throne,
A mystic, the power of the pen
Say, what can have become of Col. House?

A man who kept a family of five
On forty cents a day, and kept alive,
Has not been interviewed in quite a spell.
Into what dark, deep river did he dive?

Who's Who Today
WILLIAM S. CARTER.

President W. S. Carter of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers is another of the big leaders now coming over to this country from college to the firebox. He was born in Austin, Tex., August 11, 1858, and put in two years in the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas before taking the job as fireman.

He worked on various roads in Texas, Colorado and Mexico from 1879 to 1884 when he became editor and manager of the official organ of the brotherhood. During the war he was director of the division of labor of the United States railroad administration.

During the last few days Mr. Carter has been at Chicago in conference with Grand Chief Stom of the Engineers, and the two have called in a number of other officials of the two brotherhoods to discuss the subject of the railway men is the subject of the new discussions.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Prohibition in English Eyes
I should like to add a word or two to the testimony in support of prohibition given in your last week's issue by Mr. Robert White. It was my privilege to spend about five years in the United States, and during half of that time I was pastor of a church in the State of South Dakota, which voted out the saloon at the commencement of my pastorate. As to the question of effectiveness, if prohibition does not prohibit, why do the brewers and the publicans who are interested in it, do not protest more loudly? It is certainly does not injure their trade and their financial interests are unaffected. May I also point out that when Admiral Sims visited this country a month or two ago he spoke of the wonderful beneficial effects of prohibition, and affirmed that it had come to stay. Lord Leverhulme, also, after returning from a visit to America, unhesitatingly spoke in its favor. During my residence here I have seen many of the amazing, among which I noted the following:

- (a) Other businesses were more prosperous. Shops and stores had to be enlarged, more accommodation provided and additional assistants engaged.
- (b) Poverty vanished; there were no poor.
- (c) Home life was greatly improved, and homes in every way better furnished.
- (d) The jails were soon emptied and turned into business premises.
- (e) There were healthier children; a feeble-minded child was a rarity.
- (f) The unemployment problem was solved; there being a great demand for labor in trades which had not previously flourished.
- (g) There was larger industrial output.
- (h) People gradually purchased their own homes.
- (i) The deposits in the savings banks were greatly increased, and the banks had to provide more counters and clerks.
- (j) Investments greatly increased.
- (k) There were numerous municipal improvements and lower rates.
- (l) The death rate fell very considerably.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

Dec. 8, 1881.—Rev. Josiah Lloyd Jones, who has been one of the leaders in this section in the movement toward more education, for which literary and mutual improvement clubs have sprung up all over the country, will speak before the Janesville Mutual Improvement club tomorrow night on "The Price of Ignorance."

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Dec. 8, 1891.—The matter of the street railroad is expected to be settled tonight. The road will cost $100,000, half of which will be paid by the people of this city and the other half by Mr. Haines, of the firm which will build the road. Janesville has had horse cars up until this time, but because of poor business, even they have been forced to stop business.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Dec. 8, 1901.—Sunday.

TEN YEARS AGO

Dec. 8, 1911.—Lectures on paper bag cooking are being attended by hundreds of women who are planning to prepare meals in this new way. The University Glee and Mandolin club appears at the Myers theater tonight and the seat sale predicts a good crowd. Contributions to the fund for the sufferers from the effects of the cyclone continue to come in from the city and surrounding towns.

Personal Health Service

THE DAILY INSULT

The owner of the veriest flivver who would drop a few grains of carbon from the boiler or send him his fuel tank every day with a view of clearing carbon from the engine would be acknowledged a perfect idiot. In the English, which I am slowly but surely learning to use, there is no appropriate term for the owner of a human machine with the habit of worrying a pill down the fuel chute every night. Any injury and may do to the cylinders, valves and things is readily and comparatively inexpensively repaired, for new parts are available at any garage. But the daily insult inflicted upon the body machinery by the nimble pill is not limited to the digestive tract; it does not merely impair digestion and irritate the intestines; there are several little by little effects produced by the common physic, be it in the form of essence, tea, lozenge, tablet, pill, or whatnot, effects not nominally recognized but which bring more grist to the mills of the charlatans, for the by effects of the physic produce whole trunks of new and troublesome symptoms in the exploitation of which the indefatigable quacks eagerly offer supplementary nostrums, which Lacy Louie as eagerly swallows, and of course these supplementary nostrums have their own by effects, and so on without end until the poor dune's cash is exhausted or his health is ruined, or both, and he throws himself on the mercy of the ordinary doctor.

Nine out of 10 popular physics depend upon aloes, colocynth, may apple, jalap or kambooge for purgative effect. Unluckily each and every one of these crude drugs irritates, congests and sometimes inflames the bowels, though if you carry the insult far enough the bowels will move, to be sure.

The truth is that with rare exceptions the popular notion that some medicine or other artificial aid must be used more or less regularly or at frequent intervals to keep the bowels moving is founded on nothing but misapprehension. Even in the most obstinate instances of physic habit it has been proved over and over again that if the victim's diet is plain and the disordered of the delusion that the alimentary tube won't work without crude help the difficulty clears up and the victim finds himself feeling very comfortably, after all, without interfering in nature's control of peristalsis. A few years ago DuBois demonstrated this old truth anew, as a psychological phenomenon; in reality it is very simple sense.

A great many victims of imaginary "female complaints" are suffering solely from the by effects of their favorite physics. I dare not undertake to estimate what proportion of pile sufferers owe their misery to this same ruinous practice of taking physics.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Does the gastric juice break up uncooked egg more quickly than cooked egg? Our physiology instructor demonstrated the results of artificial gastric juice (dilute hydrochloric acid and pepsin) on different food substances. Raw meat was completely dissolved when cooked meat remained unappetizing. The instructor said the same applied to eggs.

Answer.—In the stomach meat requires longer time for digestion than egg. Rare meat is probably digested in the stomach in a shorter time than well done meat. Soft cooked egg is probably digested in a shorter time than hard boiled or fried egg. Neither of these is a very important significance—only a taste is a more important criterion. Raw meat seems to digest as fast as any other food. Raw egg is not so readily digested, not so completely assimilated by the body as cooked eggs.

Head Wetting.
Is there any cure for bed wetting? The boy is now 13 years old. (R. H. A.)

Answer.—Often it may be overcome by a regimen of general regulation of diet, exercise and sleep. The boy should be sent by mail if you will repeat your request and enclose the individual name, address and address envelope.

Head Lice.
Please send us a remedy for head lice in children. (Mrs. C. L.)

Answer.—Saturate the hair for three hours with kerosene and vinegar. Wash, then shampoo. The eggs (nits) are attached to hairs near the scalp, and must be removed by a cloth wet with hair through a cloth wet each time with hot vinegar. Repeat all this every second day as long as any of the squatters or their offspring can be found.

Q. What is meant by the 5-3-3 and 10-10-7 rule? (C. E. J.)
A. The navy department says that 5-3-3 is the proportion of naval strength based on tonnage to be allowed to Great Britain, United States and Japan in an effort to limit armaments. This is taken on a basis of 100 for Great Britain, 100 for the United States, and 60 for Japan. Japan asks that the ratio be 10-10-7 or 100-100-70, basing her naval strength on the proportion that her present naval strength is in proportion.

Q. When a horse is hitched to a wagon in the regulation manner, does he pull the wagon, or push it? Is it not true that the horse is pushing against the wagon puller? (A. L. C.)

A. The department of agriculture says that both the pushing and pulling movement are involved, when a horse is hitched to a wagon. The horse pushes the wagon forward, and the wagon pulls the horse backward.

Q. What time is it on shipboard at night? (E. D.)
A. Four, 5 and 12 o'clock are marked by eight bells. Beginning at 8 o'clock, after the hours, one bell is struck; half hour later, two bells, until eight bells ends the ordinary watch.

Q. Is it true that voting is compulsory in Argentina? (W. B.)
A. The Argentine embassy says that every man on reaching army age in the Argentine is given a book with a registration number and other data. Every vote is recorded in this book, and if not recorded or if the man does not vote, a fine is imposed, varying according to the judgment of the court. Women do not vote in Argentina.

Q. How long have pearls been recognized as valuable? (E. A.)
A. Pearls are of extreme antiquity, having been found in China showing that they were gathered 1,000 years before Christ. Pearls were in early Chinese history accepted in payment of taxes.

Q. How long has the tract of land given to Lafayette by this country? (S. G. C.)
A. History records that a tract of land was given to Lafayette by the United States in 1824, at the time of his great French mission to the United States, and the money placed in a bank to his credit.

Q. Has the top of Mount Everest ever been seen? (M. A.)
A. The summit of Mount Everest has not as yet been reached. An English expedition is at present attempting the ascent of this mountain, but has not reached the top.

Don't Let Your Clothes Be Ruined

Poor laundering shortens the natural life of many a good garment. Fading, fading, and shrinking may happen easily. The wrong kind of soap, an improper washing, and the use of the wrong kind of dye, and your clothes are ruined. You may not know that a little soap should be used when clothes are put to soak. You may not know that a little turpentine, prepared with oil, will make your clothes again clothes that have begun to turn yellow.

A pamphlet on this subject has been prepared by experts of the Department of Agriculture. You can see by the copy of it by filling out and mailing the coupon below. Enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Print name and address or be sure to write plainly.

ROCK COUNTY FOLK WIN AT EXHIBITION

Grains and Livestock of Quality Bring Many Ribbons to State

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Chicago—Seventy-one Rock county exhibitors have reason to be proud of the record Wisconsin livestock and farm products made here at the International Livestock Exposition in competition with the very best that could be assembled upon the American continent. Close to 100 prizes were won by the Rock county exhibitors at the National Hay and Grain show held in connection with this big exposition. Sweetest corn, corn adapted to Wisconsin, and other crops were awarded to H. Thompson of Rock county and Otto Wolf of La Crosse county won sweetest corn at his exhibit of clover hay.

On the first four places on alfalfa hay, Wisconsin took three of the most coveted and those in competition with winners from all sections of the country. Including the first prize, the Rock county exhibitors won the first prize on alfalfa hay.

In the corn classes, Wisconsin came away with "that a hundred" or more prizes including sweepstakes and first on 10 ears of white and 10 ears of yellow corn. Wisconsin winners in the corn classes include: J. H. Brunker, Dodge county; Elmer Diddick, Grant county; H. C. Brunker, Jefferson county; J. A. Brunker, Iowa county; N. Kelley, Iowa county; Hyde & Funk, La Crosse county; L. M. Hanson, Buffalo county; Michael Reese, Jefferson county; C. H. McVittie, Dodge county; John Brunker, Jr., Vernon county; Loretta Brunker, Richland county; Justus Brunker, Jefferson county; Theron Thorpe, Rock county; Anderson, Jackson county; Henry Brunker, Jackson county; Roman Brunker, Shawano county; J. D. Williams, Washburn county; Noyes Brunker, Rock county; Oscar Brunker, Dane county; George H. Arnold, Rock county; Albert Peterson, Dane county; Laverne Johnson, Shawano county; Carl Brunker, Dodge county; A. W. Brunker, Dodge county; Henry A. Schulte, Milwaukee county; Frank J. Lindley, Dodge county; William H. Leonard, Jefferson county.

In the small grain classes, Wisconsin made a similarly enviable record, taking numerous blue ribbons and a liberal share of the other most coveted colors. Among the winners on small grain were: H. E. Krueger, Dodge county; Noyes Brunker, Rock county; Minnie L. Krueger, Dodge county; H. E. Krueger, Dodge county; Arnold Brunker, Dodge county; H. E. Brunker, Dodge county; Otto Wolf, George Laier, La Crosse county; Carl Laier, La Crosse county; Fred Engle, Dodge county; Fred Engle, Dodge county; La Crosse county; Ed Peters, La Crosse county; George Leonard, Jefferson county; R. H. Lang, Jefferson county; William H. Hill, Columbia county; J. M. Krueger, Dodge county; Blk. H. Krueger, Dodge county; Henry Du Vries, Dodge county; C. H. Rhodes, Racine county; Gust Cuskulson, Columbia county; W. H. Krueger, Milwaukee county; J. L. Krueger, Dodge county; Arthur Ehler, Dodge county; John J. Starn, Dodge county; A. C. Brunker, Milwaukee county; and A. C. Brunker, Columbia county.

Legume Seed Division.
In the legume seed division, Wisconsin growers were in equal evidence, standing high and she practically swept the board on soy beans. The winners in these classes were: Frank Casper, La Crosse county; John Mink, Wisconsin county; Adolph Kroger, Adams county; Louis E. Krohn, Shawano county; D. A. Frazer, Shawano county; W. H. Dase, Milwaukee county; J. L. Krueger, Dodge county; Frank J. Lindley, Dodge county.

Wisconsin's reputation as a hay and forage state was maintained in the most gratifying manner by the following exhibitors: Otto Wolf, J. L. Krueger, P. L. Lindley, George Laier, Schwartz Bros., Waushara county; A. J. Stace, Columbia county; C. H. Hill, Wisconsin county. The University of Wisconsin repeated its customary performances by winning a choice assortment of cash and ribbon awards on its exhibits. The list of exhibitors and their prizes from the University pens captured nine firsts, six seconds, three thirds and two fourths; one championship and one grand championship. The display presented by Prof. Frank Kleinfelz showing the influence of a purebred sire was accorded premium honors, being the best presentation made by any of the institutions in the country.

Wins on Horses.
In the horse department, the university won first in the Belgian variety, third in the standard class of three-year-old Clydesdales, mares, and sixth and eighth in hot competition on two-year-old Percheron mares. The state Clydesdale steeple was represented by the purchase of the international of the second prize yearling Clydesdale stallion from the Langwater Farms of Massachusetts. This young stallion, Fairhope, is a record holder in the state of the great Scotch brood.

One of the sensations of the entire California exposition was that presented by the famous "Animal Husbandry" department of the University of California, Lulu Mayflower, a fat shorthorn and Angus heifer, presented by this institution, was proclaimed the top of the entire display and won the championship award. This is the second grand championship which Mrs. True has helped the western institution to win. As a result, a Hereford-Shorthorn from the "Golden Gate" state was given this signal recognition.

Standing next to the California entry at the show was a purebred Hereford, fed and shown by Jimmy Price of La Crosse county, Wis., a victorious winner of many hard fought battles.

Wisconsin Again Forced to the Fore in the International Saddle and Sleigh club medal essay contest, which terminated during the exposition. The judges cited for special commendation the essays written by Brownie Warren of Rock county and Thomas Daniels of Rock county, Wis.

To maintain the reputation of Wisconsin as the producer of the highest types of sheep, exhibits were supplied by George McKerron and Sons of Waushara county, and Broughton Bros. of Rock county. William E. Kleinfelz of the university officiated in the allotment of awards in several of the classes.

Robert Reynolds of Columbia county and McMillan & McMillan of Dane county supplied the representation of the state in the Shorthorn division and came away with the first supply awards. Rott Bros. of Sauk county, Irving Jewell of Iowa county, and C. E. Russell of Grant county were among the winners on Herefords.

G. F. Norward, chief of Wisconsin's Department of Agriculture, was chosen as the president of the National Association of Commissioners, Secretaries and Departments of Agriculture at their meeting at the International, and L. G. Foster, assistant

THE MEAT IN HARDING'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS.

The message of the president to congress is usually a necessary document filled with a resume of the reports of the cabinet heads and dry-as-dust deductions from them. In the 8 or 10 thousand words which occupy space and is a sort of necessary evil in newspaper offices, there may be a half dozen paragraphs that stimulate and refresh. But the message sent to congress Tuesday by Warren G. Harding was different. It was full of meat. Perhaps half of one per cent of the people ever read a message and it is hard to find anyone who deliberately and of his own volition set about to read one printed in full in the favorite newspaper.

But one may read the digest of Harding's message and be interested every moment. Nor does there seem to be anything that may be given to what he says.

To us here in the garden spot of the nation, what he says of the agricultural situation is of the most vital moment. That there has been recrudescence by the president of what has been repeated many times concerning the condition of the farm, together with such transportation charges and added facilities is something to be looked upon as a disaster.

There is a need for whatever administrative power and law can be devised for the relief of a situation that has grown to be a great injustice to the agricultural wealth of the nation.

That the president gave to other questions much attention does not in any way detract from the power of the message referred to the farmer. It may be said to the president, that when the agricultural interests of the country are prospering, all manner of other industrial activities are prospering in harmony.

Just as sure as the troubles which have brought about the conditions which now confront the farmer, business and depression will have ended.

This is the real meat in the president's message. Matters of tariff, of relations of labor and employer, of the economic method of taxation, of foreign loans, and valuation schemes for customs purposes are highly important, but of a less degree than the question of the marketing of the billions of bushels of grain and other products of the millions of acres of tillable land in this fertile nation, that make up the great basic wealth of the United States.

Renew Fight on Sunday Movies

Monroe.—The second inning in the fight of the U. T. U. against the running of theaters on Sunday opened Wednesday when Leon Goetz, manager of two Monroe theaters, was served with a second warrant charging violation of the so-called "blue Sunday law of Wisconsin." Mr. Goetz was served with the first warrant last Saturday.

The warrant was issued on request of Mrs. M. V. Cagidine, president of the Monroe U. T. U. and wife of the district attorney, and was based on the operation of the theater Sunday.

The cases have been set for trial Dec. 17. Mr. Goetz has pleaded not guilty and has demanded a trial by jury. The fight over the operation of theaters on Sunday is not new to Monroe. About 16 years ago, the proprietor of Monroe's first motion picture house was tried by jury three times and all discharged. The cases were dropped.

Under section 4595 of the statutes, the operator of a motion picture house or other place of amusement on the first day of the week is liable to a fine of $10.

WATER CONSUMERS GET LAST WARNING

Meters Due in Fire Limits by Jan. 1—Penalty: No More Water.

Citizens owning property within the fire limits of Jamesville—that is, the downtown district—are receiving final warnings from the city water department this week to install meters within the next three weeks. After Jan. 1, 1922, all unmetered services in the fire limits will be shut off at the curb until an order is given for installation of a meter, Supt. H. A. Grifley advises.

There are more than 100 unmetered services still remaining in this district. By the end of the year, Grifley hopes that he will have received meter orders for all of them, so that no one will suffer the inconvenience of a shut-off of the water supply.

Each applicant for a meter must be accompanied by $15, advance payments in full being required under a ruling set down by the board of public works.

Owners of property outside the fire limits have until July 1, 1922, to have meters installed under similar penalty.

There being a general ignorance of the fire limits, Mr. Grifley has defined the boundaries as follows:

All property bounded by a line running from the Five Points north along the railroad, right-of-way to North Main; then south on North Main to Fourth avenue; east on Fourth and North Main; south on North Main to North First; east on North First to Court; west on Court to South Main; south on South Main to South Second west on South Second and across the river on School street to South Franklin north on Franklin to Pleasant; and west on Pleasant to Five Points, or place of beginning.

The boundary lines run through the center of all the above streets.

ORFORDVILLE PLANS VILLAGE BUILDING

Orfordville.—The condemnation of the lockup may prove a fine thing for Orfordville. It is now contemplated to erect a building as a lockup, in which will be combined the fire department, office for the city marshal, a comfort station, and room for meetings of the village board.

A few high school boys feel rather disgusted at the action taken by the Civic Federation, but the general opinion is that it is one of the best things that has been undertaken in the city.

Report cards will be issued before the end of the week. All parents and guardians are being urged to give special attention to the grades received by students.

AUTO THIEF GIVEN REFORMATORY TERM

Moyle Shook, who was arrested at the Rock county jail for several weeks on a charge of a theft of an auto at Beloit, will spend from one to 20 years in the Illinois state reformatory. This was the sentence meted out to him by Judge R. K. Welsh at Rockford this week for complicity in the theft of several cars. The Beloit case is rather unusual in that it was the first case of its kind since Shook's dismissal from Pontiac.

POULTRY INDUSTRY GAINING IN STATE

Southern Section Is Declared
Favorable for Raising Chickens.

With eggs selling at 55 cents a dozen and pullets at good prices at the butcher shop, poultry raisers in importance as a sideline for Rock county farmers. The poultry industry is gaining in this state and conditions are declared to be right for chicken farms in the southern section. The hen is a good money maker and under present farm prices one of the best on the farm.

To the east of Rock both Jefferson and Walworth farmers have also made good profits with their flocks. There has been no "boom" in the opinion of J. G. Halpin, politician at the University of Wisconsin, but a gradual increase.

"The poultry industry is just 10 years behind the dairy industry," stated Mr. Halpin. "Another decade will find poultry occupying the same relative position as occupied by dairying today. There is profit in chickens and Wisconsin has good markets for poultry and eggs."

Dane county leads the state in number of flocks. Next to Dane comes Dodge. Grant is third in line. Included in the first 10 Wisconsin counties in poultry raising are Jefferson, Walworth, Columbia, Waukesha, Racine, Rock and Iowa. From this tabulation it can be seen that the southern part of the state is a splendid feathered stock section. Because of the somewhat scattered settlements in the northern part of Wisconsin, poultry so far as numbers is concerned, does not make good a display. But interest is high among the northern district farmers and this region can be counted on as the coming "sector" to reinforce the front line trenches of southern Wisconsin.

Wisconsin has just inaugurated a movement for the inspection of hatcheries in the state. Mr. Halpin is the father of the idea. It occurred to him that chicken men in this state ought to have some protection in the buying of young chicks. He took the plan to the Bureau of Agriculture and it is now receiving their full attention. The idea is strictly a Badger product, but before it could be started somewhat the same plan was put into effect in the same county, California. This county has more chickens to the square mile than any other county in America. Wisconsin is the first state to adopt such a program.

Protection to Buyer.
It has been a practice in some places for city men to make a business of buying cages of ungraded eggs, incubating and then selling the day-old chicks to the farmers. This gave the farmer no protection, for the shrewd business men would sell him anything while and call it a white Wyandotte, White Rock, or whatever was wanted. The buyer had no comeback for when the chick was old enough to show its true character, it was too late to return the bird.

By the new plan now in operation in Wisconsin, any hatchery in the state desiring to be inspected and placed on an accredited list, both male and female birds are rigidly inspected at these hatcheries both with regard to the breeding of the bird and appearance. Those birds passing the tests are banded. In this way Wisconsin farmers buying from inspected hatcheries are being insured of the introduction into their flocks of birds of high producing strains.

Up in Polk county the farmers are cooperating in the selling of their poultry products. By grading their eggs, they slip to the big markets and increase their profits. Usually the grading is done at a local creamery. When a full carload of butter is not available, the creamery is loaded with the graded eggs and off they go to market.

ARMY MUSIC WILL BE DEVELOPED TO HIGH EFFICIENCY

Washington—Army music soon will compare with that of the best orchestras and bands of the country. Popular music will be supplemented by the classical masterpieces and a superb band and orchestra will be created from army musicians.

General Pershing already has ordered the establishment of an army music school and Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York Symphony orchestra, has pledged his assistance in work of organization. Both are determined through the school to elevate music in the army.

The object of the school, as outlined in the orders issued by General Pershing, "is to give courses of instruction in music, both practical and theoretical, elementary and advanced to students bandmen, to advanced instrumentalists (soloists), and to student band leaders, to standardize and perfect band music, and to supply trained personnel therein to meet as fully as possible the needs of the service."

Radio Phone Service from Eiffel Tower

Paris—A wireless telephone service will soon be distributed from the Eiffel tower in Paris. The news

THIS COAT LOOKS LIKE STREET GOWN

The season has brought forth the coat dress and now Paris is showing its opposite, the dress coat. This pretty model of a heavy tweed material, which looks just like a smart street frock, is really a coat. It is extremely simple, the only trimming being a collar of monkey fur, unique cuffs and a sash belt.

High School News

To Entertain Football Squad.
Members of the football squad and coaches will be entertained at the high school Wednesday night at a dinner given by the faculty of the high school. Following the dinner a special program of entertainment will be given. Arrangements are being made by a committee of which Thomas McDonald is the chairman.

Will Have Photographs.
The Boys and Girls' club of the high school met Tuesday night at the high school and decided to have group photographs taken to be published in the Phoenix. Reports of the financial success of the mixer given Friday night were made. Sufficient funds were raised to finance the taking of the photographs.

Traffic Regulations.
Several important matters were considered at the meeting of the student council of the high school Wednesday, foremost of which was the discussion of traffic regulations to cope with the seven motor vehicles given which will prevent in the high school with the opening of the coming semester in February. Prin. George Bassford stated that he expects the enrollment will be increased by nearly 100 pupils. Fervent cooperation in stopping the foot stamping at the convocation was pledged with the issuance of an ultimatum to offenders they would be expelled from convocations with the next offense. It is also planned to have a representative student introduce prominent speakers at the convocation periods in the future, although this has not been definitely decided.

FATHERS AND SONS
DINE AT EVANSVILLE

Evansville—A talk by C. G. Radabaugh, quarterback on the Beloit college team, and an address by C. C. Sprague, boys' work secretary of the Beloit Y. M. C. A., was the main feature of the annual father and son banquet at the Congregational church Tuesday night, under the auspices of the Evansville/H-Y club.

Wilbur Hockett is president of the club. Many fathers and sons were present. Paul G. Edwards, athletic director of the high school, was toastmaster, and Walter Upton led the singing. The high school glee club sang and J. K. Arnot, county Y. M. C. A. secretary, led in prayer.

Other speakers on the subject of greater comradeship between father and son were Robert Frayne, Rev. O. W. Smith, J. S. Pullen, Leonard Moore, J. L. Scott and J. F. Waddell.

WEST POINT OFFERS PLACES FOR GUARDS

There are far more opportunities to get into West Point for men from the national guard than from any other source, according to a report from the adjutant general's office showing 10 applications for a single appointment to be made by Senator Lenroot and only four applicants for the five vacancies to be filled by the National Guard.

All four of the national guard candidates—Norman Matthias, Abbottsford; Lawrence Gaur, Milwaukee; Arthur Burghdoff, Stanley; and Arthur Husted, Waukesha—will take the final examination March 7.

Efforts will be made to have more guardsmen between 19 and 22 take the examination next time.

TWO YEAR SENTENCE FOR STEALING PIG

Stoughton—Stealing a hog from the farm of Mrs. Stella Blide will cost Chis Vilk, town of Rutland, two years of liberty. Judge Heppmann sentencing him to two years in state's prison when he pleaded guilty. Alfred Bergh, accomplice, who pleaded guilty to larceny, was placed on probation for two years. He paid Mrs. Blide $30 for the pig. Arrest of the men followed the finding of a fresh barrel of salt pork in Vilk's home.

DEMAND FOR LIBRARY BOOKS ON INCREASE

Chicago—Demand for library books has taken a tremendous jump in Chicago this fall, according to Carl B. Roden, librarian of the Chicago public library.

"The increase has been tremendous and has almost swamped us," Mr. Roden said. "Unemployment has contributed, but I am convinced this does not account for all of the increase."

"The demand in great part is for good stuff. Not all the people out of

NEW INDUSTRY TO BRING 150 MORE MEN INTO BELOIT

Beloit—Employment to about 150 more men in Beloit will be offered in 1922 when the marine oil engine industry conducted by the Fairbanks-Morse company at Three Rivers, Mich., is moved to Beloit. Announcement by W. S. Hovey, vice-president in charge of manufacturing. The marine industry of the company was moved to Three Rivers from Baltimore three years ago.

Jobs are doing the reading—the character of the books demanded certainly does not point to the unemployed type.

"My idea is that interest in reading is growing very rapidly in Chicago. We had to buy 300 copies of one recent book, which was not of the so-called 'popular' kind, to make any impression on the demand."
